#woohooitsFriday

Today's word of the day is inspire

Look it up in a dictionary or online, or ask someone in your house what it means. Find the word class, definition, synonyms, antonyms and use it in a sentence. Why not post your sentence on the class blog? Why do you think the tower on top of a church or cathedral is called a 'spire'? Can you think of other words in this family?

English

'Big writing' – use the image file, 'image to inspire writing' as a basis for a piece of writing. Before you start, think about your purpose for writing and your audience. You can write in any style or genre – it could be fiction or non-fiction- you choose! Use the document, 'making a choice for writing' to help you decide before you begin, and to help you with words and ideas as you write. Then, set a timer and write for 30 minutes in your chosen style. Set another timer, this time for 5 minutes, and revise and edit your work. Then set a final timer for 15 minutes and aim to have your writing finished by the time it ends. Find someone to read your work – can they work out what your choices were from the 'making a choice' document without you telling them?

This week's spelling activities are all on one file, 'Spelling activities for this week'. They focus on spelling and vocabulary building. Just do ONE PAGE each day – the answers are given at the end. If you can print, then do, but you don't have to – you can answer all the questions in your exercise book instead.

Maths – arithmetic day

We're going to have a break from ratio and proportion today and have a go at some arithmetic. There are three levels of challenge – try whichever you like, or even do all three!

Art - Continue with the activity suggestions from Monday's art lesson. It has been lovely seeing so many paper cut-out pictures on the blog. If you haven't done one yet, then have a go. It would also be great to see some Matisse fact-files, some evidence of research into other artists who use colour, and some stained-glass window pictures.

Alternatively, you could try making a window-cling if you have PVA glue and food colouring (I used this technique to make my rainbow):

Don't forget to look at the 'Thought for the Day' on the website, and also check in with the Class blog.
