

Friday 22nd May 2020 – English instructions

A lovely simple activity to end the half term!

Read the lockdown poetry in this folder written by children during the lockdown. Write your own free verse about lockdown. It doesn't have to rhyme but can rhyme if you want it to.

You can just write it straight off or start by writing down some ideas – what you have been doing, how it is different now, how you feel about it all and your hopes for the future.

I would love to read some of these – share either via dojo or the blog!

Have a great half term break!
